

FEMA Applicants Referred to SBA are Encouraged to Complete Loan Application

Release Date: November 29, 2022

ST. CLAIR COUNTY, IL -- FEMA is still accepting applications through Dec. 16 from people in St. Clair County, Illinois, whose home or personal property was damaged by the July floods. More than $18 million in federal assistance has already been awarded so far.

You may have applied for FEMA assistance and were told your application was also being referred to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) for a low-interest disaster loan. While each person's situation is different, if you are referred to the SBA for a disaster loan, it's very important that you apply, even if you don't think you qualify for a loan. Here's why.

If you are approved for a low-interest SBA loan, you could use the money for:

- Damages that weren't covered by insurance.
- Replacing or repairing your primary residence.
- Replacing or repairing damaged clothing, furniture, cars, or appliances.

The SBA will work with you to provide a loan that fits your personal budget.

If you are not approved for an SBA low-interest loan, the SBA will send your application back to FEMA. FEMA teams will then go back to work on your behalf to see what other funding may be available to you.

Loan applications can be submitted online at disasterloan.sba.gov. Applications can also be mailed to:
