

FEMA Approves an Additional $6 Million for Colorado's COVID-19 Response

DENVER – FEMA has approved an additional $6 million in Public Assistance funding for the COVID-19 response in Colorado.

This most recent funding reimburses:

- Brighton Community Hospital Association $2,871,916 in FEMA funding for patient care and labor contracts. This funding covers costs from March 3, 2020, to June 30, 2022.
- St. Mary's Hospital and Medical Center $3,148,804 in FEMA funding for patient care and labor contracts. This funding covers costs from January 1, 2021, to June 30, 2022.

FEMA has now approved more than $2 billion in Public Assistance grant funds to Colorado for its pandemic response.

These reimbursements have played a critical role as state, tribal and local officials worked to assist their communities during their COVID-19 response. For more information about the Public Assistance program, visit:
