Kentuckians who suffered damage from the July 26 flooding are encouraged to visit a Disaster Recovery Center to receive one-on-one assistance with their case. However, you do not need to go to a center to apply for federal assistance, find out about the status of your application, or obtain information on disaster programs.

You can find the nearest recovery center by visiting www.fema.gov/drc or by calling the FEMA Helpline at 800-621 3362. Survivors of the July 26 floods are welcome to visit any of the centers to apply for federal assistance or get information on the status of their applications.

To apply for federal assistance, find out about the status of your application or obtain information:

- Call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362. Press 2 for Spanish. Press 3 for other languages. If you use a relay service such as video relay service (VRS) or captioned telephone service, give FEMA the number for that service;
- Go online at DisasterAssistance.gov;
- Use the FEMA mobile app. Open the FEMA App on your smart phone and select “Talk to FEMA in person.”
