

Preliminary Damage Assessment Report

Iowa – Severe Storms, Flooding, Straight-line Winds, and Tornadoes FEMA-4796-DR

Declared June 24, 2024

On June 23, 2024, Governor Kim Reynolds requested an expedited major disaster declaration due to severe storms, flooding, straight-line winds, and tornadoes beginning on June 16, 2024, and continuing. The Governor requested a declaration for Individual Assistance for nine counties, Public Assistance for 22 counties, and Hazard Mitigation statewide. Beginning on June 22, 2024, joint federal, state, tribal, and local government Preliminary Damage Assessments (PDAs) were conducted in the requested areas and are summarized below. PDAs estimate damages immediately after an event and are considered, along with several other factors, in determining whether a disaster is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the state and the affected local governments, and that Federal assistance is necessary.¹

On June 24, 2024, President Biden declared that a major disaster exists in the State of Iowa. This declaration made Individual Assistance requested by the Governor available to affected individuals and households in Clay, Emmet, Lyon, Plymouth, and Sioux Counties. This declaration also made debris removal and emergency protective measures (Categories A and B), including direct federal assistance under the Public Assistance program available to state and eligible local governments and certain private nonprofit organizations on a cost-sharing basis in Buena Vista, Clay, Dickinson, Emmet, Lyon, O'Brien, Osceola, Plymouth, and Sioux Counties. Finally, this declaration made Hazard Mitigation Grant Program assistance requested by the Governor available for hazard mitigation measures statewide.²

² When a Governor’s request for major disaster assistance under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, as amended (Stafford Act) is under review, a number of primary factors are considered to determine whether assistance is warranted. These factors are outlined in FEMA’s regulations (44 CFR § 206.48). The President has ultimate discretion and decision making authority to declare major disasters and emergencies under the Stafford Act (42 U.S.C. § 5170 and § 5191).

³ Degree of damage to impacted residences:

- Destroyed – total loss of structure, structure is not economically feasible to repair, or complete failure to major structural components (e.g., collapse of basement walls/foundation, walls or roof);
- Major Damage – substantial failure to structural elements of residence (e.g., walls, floors, foundation), or damage that will take more than 30 days to repair;
- Minor Damage – home is damaged and uninhabitable, but may be made habitable in short period of time with repairs; and
- Affected – some damage to the structure and contents, but still habitable.

⁴ By law, Federal disaster assistance cannot duplicate insurance coverage. 42 U.S.C. § 5155 and 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(5).

⁵ Special populations, such as low-income, the elderly, or the unemployed may indicate a greater need for assistance. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).

⁶ Ibid. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).
