

Continued Temporary Housing Assistance

FEMA pays rent for temporary housing to help you get back on your feet and have one less bill to worry about. Rent includes a security deposit for any temporary housing other than your fire-damaged residence. The initial FEMA grant covers your rent for the first two months. When that runs out, you can ask FEMA for more assistance.

FEMA

Homeowners

follow the steps below in this order:

- 1 You should receive the Continued Temporary Housing Assistance application
- 2 If you think you are eligible and did not receive the application, contact FEMA at 800-621-3362
- 3 Ensure the application is complete before submitting
- 4 Submit the application and supporting documents

Vs

Renters

follow the steps below in this order:

- 1 Request the application for Continued Temporary Housing Assistance by calling 800-621-3362
- 2 Ensure your contact information is current with FEMA
- 3 Ensure the application is complete before submitting
- 4 Submit the application and supporting documents

How to Submit Your Continued Temporary Housing Assistance Application

Online: DisasterAssistance.gov

Fax: 800-827-8112

Mailing:

FEMA
P.O. Box 10055
Hyattsville, MD
20782-8055

Visit a Disaster Recovery Center Near You for In-Person Support: fema.gov/drc