

Aid for Boulder County Fires and Wind Storm Tops $61.8 Million

DENVER – In the four weeks since President Biden approved a major disaster declaration for the Marshall Fire and straight-line winds in Colorado, federal agencies have provided more than $61.8 million in grants and loans to assist in recovery as of January 27, 2022.

To date, a total of 2,825 people in Boulder County have applied with FEMA for assistance. FEMA has approved $857,168.28 through the Individuals and Households program, consisting of $709,328.14 in Housing Assistance for home repairs and rental expenses, and $147,840.14 in Other Needs Assistance for repair or replacement of personal property, vehicle repair or replacement, moving expenses and other disaster-related needs.

In addition, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has approved $60,996,800 in low interest disaster loans for homeowners, renters, and businesses.

BOULDER COUNTY COMMUNITY MEMBERS AFFECTED BY THE DISASTER CAN STILL APPLY FOR ASSISTANCE OR CHECK ON THE STATUS OF THEIR APPLICATION IN THE FOLLOWING WAYS:

The application deadline is Tuesday, March 2, 2022.

STAY IN TOUCH WITH FEMA

Homeowners and renters who applied for FEMA disaster assistance are encouraged to notify FEMA of changes to their mailing address, phone number, email address, and if they discover additional damage or receive an insurance settlement. Updating contact information ensures that FEMA can reach you to ask questions or provide new information. Missing or wrong information in your application could result in delays in receiving assistance.

It's important to stay in touch with FEMA regarding any new information on your insurance claim. FEMA cannot complete your application until a copy of the insurance settlement is in your file. Once you receive the information from your agent, be sure to provide a copy to FEMA.

FEMA Public Assistance

FEMA's Public Assistance Program (PA) is a grant program which provides funding for rebuilding necessary infrastructure to state and local governments and certain types of private nonprofit organizations following a presidential disaster declaration. Assistance is available for debris removal and emergency protective measures taken to promote public safety. The federal cost share for eligible work is no less than 75 percent. The state is conducting informational briefings for potential applicants on how to apply for this assistance.

So far, 12 Requests for Public Assistance (RPA) have been submitted to FEMA.

Of those, 8 have been approved and 4 are pending State or FEMA review.

The deadline for the Request for Public Assistance (RPA) is January 30, 2022. For more information, visit <https://mars.colorado.gov/news-article/jan-30-deadline-public-assistanc...>

Mitigation Community Education & Outreach
