

Disaster Recovery Centers and Multi-Agency Resource Centers to Remain Open — Don't Wait — Visit Today

Release Date: Tháng 10 28, 2022

FRANKFORT, Ky. – While the deadline for federal disaster assistance is 11:59 p.m. on Oct. 28, help is still available. FEMA Disaster Recovery Centers and commonwealth-managed Multi-Agency Resource Centers will continue to operate. Survivors who still have disaster related questions can visit a center today.

There is no limit to how many times survivors can visit a Disaster Recovery Center. These centers are designed to guide them through the recovery process. FEMA representatives can help survivors check the status of their applications, understand their determination letters, and help upload documents needed for an appeal.

In addition, survivors can pick up handouts on rebuilding safer and stronger homes and the option of property buyouts. The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) is also at the recovery centers to answer questions about low-interest disaster loans.

All Disaster Recovery Centers are open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Other commonwealth and federal resources may also be available at certain locations. See the list below for services available at each center:

- Breathitt County: Breathitt County Library – 1024 College Ave, Jackson, KY 41339
 - FEMA Individual Assistance, SBA, Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- Knott County: Knott County Sportsplex - 450 Kenny Champion Loop #8765, Leburn, KY 41831

Survivors don’t have to visit a recovery center to check the status of their applications or get help understanding their determination letters. They can still get assistance by calling 800-621-3362, going online to disasterassistance.gov or using the FEMA mobile app. If using a relay service, such as video relay (VRS), captioned telephone or other service, give FEMA the number for that service.
