

Strengthen Your Home Against Hazards from Hurricanes

Release Date: ?? 19, 2023

ST. CROIX, U.S. Virgin Islands – Having a plan in place to protect your home from the flying debris and wind-driven rain caused by tropical storms and hurricanes will give you a head start to protecting one of your greatest investments.

Our homes are where we raise families, store family heirlooms and where many of life's milestones occur. Taking steps now to strengthen your roof, windows, downspouts, shutters and other parts of your home against hazards from storms can mean the difference between minor damage and destruction.

Below are steps you could take to harden and protect your property against storms:

- Review home insurance policies to ensure proper coverage and take photos of property.
 - Losses caused by flooding are not typically covered by standard homeowners' insurance policies. Learn more about the National Flood Insurance program at www.floodsmart.gov.
- Prepare to store anything from your property that could be picked up by hurricane winds and turned into a harmful object.
- Trim trees to remove dead limbs and secure rain gutters and downspouts.
- Make sure porches, decks or sheds are sound and firmly attached.
- Fasten down roofs with hurricane straps or clips and install strong bolts at the top and bottom of exterior doors. Buy or make storm shutters for windows.

Complete your home inspection to determine which areas of your home need to be strengthened this hurricane season.
